

The American Dream

Left their homes, their families
Left their thoughts, their memories
And they looked up to the sky
And saw the steam
They all wanted to live the American Dream

Left their friends, all they had built up
They believed in their future, and in god
And among all their hopes,
There were screams
But they wanted to live the American Dream

And they came from all over Germany
Cause they wanted to be free
From Bavaria up to the Northern Sea
Welcomed by the Statue of Liberty

They had left, so much behind,
Didn't know, what they would find
A new world was ahead
Where they'd never been
They all wanted to live the American Dream

And they came from all over Germany
Cause they wanted to be free
From Bavaria up to the Northern Sea
Welcomed by the Statue of Liberty

Lately I met an American man
And he started singing "Mus I denn"
With tears in his eyes
We talked about him, he said
"Ich habe ihn erlebt, den American Dream"

Then he told me, about his family
He was proud as a man can be
But he'll never forget
His origin
He has made it come true, the American Dream

And they came from all over Germany
Cause they wanted to be free
From Bavaria up to the Northern Sea
Welcomed by the Statue of Liberty
